SWITZERLAND IN THREAT WITHDRAW FROM THE LEAGUE

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, Feb. 14.—European statesmen are of the opinion that the most important problem Warren G. Harding will have to grapple with when he comes president will be settlement of questions pertaining to the war loans to the allies.

America's tariff system and foreign relations generally will be influenced largely by whatever arrangements are made concerning the loans. America is paying interest on $24,000,000,000 war borrowings, of which $10,000,000,000 was loaned to the allies. The allies haven't met the interest.

Nation's Debts.
America's national debt is 25 times bigger than before the war; Britain's is 11; France's 6; Italy's 5 and Belgium's 4. These countries are our principal debtors, the amounts standing:
Britain $4,196,818,358
France 3,356,028,442
Italy 1,631,338,987
Belgium 376,793,949

The sentiment in London is for America's cancelling her British indebtedness if Britain cancels the loans to her allies. Britain has loaned these allies over $8,000,000,000 in these amounts:
Russia $2,840,000,000
France 2,574,000,000
Italy 2,270,000,000
Belgium 460,000,000

In France there is a feeling that the German reparations agreement is mixed up with the question of France's debts and that sooner or later America must decide whether the German promises to pay France will be accepted by America as payment of its loans to the French government.

Some Opinions.
Concerning the loans, Robert Horne, president of the Government Board of Trade in London, says:
"The only solution is the proposal that America waive England's indebtedness on condition that England does the same with other European countries. In a word, there should be forgiveness all around."

Sir Poshua Stamp, formerly one of the government's chief statisticians, suggests that Britain pay America by giving over a large part of the debts owed her by the allies. His plan would clean Britain's slate both ways, while America would add more debts to those on hand.

William Quinn, furniture polish salesman, was brought before Judge J. Lee McCrory this morning for preliminary hearing on a charge of rape, following his capture at the home of a Deland resident Friday afternoon, the capture being effected after the husband of the woman who was attacked, had shot Quinn once through the fleshy part of his leg, and once through his hat, the bullet grazing the skull.

The hearing was postponed to this afternoon when all newspaper men, attorneys and the general public was excluded from the court, only those directly concerned in the case being allowed admittance to the court room. It was stated at Deland this morning that it was most probable that Quinn would be held for the grand jury in April, following the hearing today.

Quinn was in Daytona several weeks ago demonstrating his wares and at that time got a reputation of being exceedingly "fresh." When he appeared at a Deland home Friday, he forced an entrance to the home and is alleged to have assaulted a married woman. The husband appeared on the scene and shot Quinn as he jumped from the porch of the home, afterwards affecting his capture with the assistance of the speed cop, Pete Carlton. Deputy Sheriff Stone later appeared and lodged Quinn in jail, the charge of rape being laid today.

Jack A. Thompson, butcher employed in the DeLand Meat Market, and well known at the county seat, together with his baby son were killed today, when the car which he was driving turned over on the road near Umatilla, while Thompson, his wife and baby were driving to Ocala.

Reports received at Deland this afternoon were meagre as to the cause, merely stating that the car which Thompson was driving had turned over and that Thompson and the baby had been killed, and Mrs. Thompson seriously injured.

The Thompsons live at No. 9 Voorhees Terrace, Deland, having resided at the county seat for a number of years, where they have many friends who were shocked to receive the news of Mr. Thompson's death and that of their baby, today.

(The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The center of population as disclosed by the 1920 census is located at the extreme southeast corner of Owen county, Indiana, 8.2 miles southeast of the town of Spencer, the census bureau today announced. During the last decade the center has continued to move westward, advancing 9.5 miles in that direction from a point about one-fifth of a mile north of Bloomington, Ind.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—Mustapha Kemal, leader of the Turkish Nationalists, in an exclusive statement to the United Press today, defines the allies, lays down his peace terms and welcomes American mediation. Kemal is at his headquarters at Angora, Asia Minor, where he gave a statement to a United Press courier.

Hostilities between the Turks and Greeks has been suspended pending a decision by allied ministers on matters in dispute between Turkey and Greece. Kemal submitted the following as his peace terms: First, nullification of the Sevres treaty; second, Constantinople must remain under Turkish sovereignty; third, freedom of navigation through the Dardanelles under regulations laid down by the Black Sea state, and not by England; fourth, renunciation by Greece of her imperialistic aims.

Grand Bahama Banks, Which Once Sheltered Pirates, Now Home of Rum Runners, Liquid Fire Dealers

BY JACK ROYLE

(International News Service.)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14.—On the hydrographic charts of the Atlantic coast is a broad dotted section marked "Grand Bahama Banks." There has always been money in those banks, but never have they yielded better profit than since January 16, 1919. From the days of Sir Francis Drake, Sir Edward Morgan, and the buccanniers, past the times of Teach, Blackbeard, Caesar and the pirates of the Caribbean, to the gun running days of Dynamite Johnny O'Brien, those coral islets, cays and reefs have yielded treasure. Today they shelter the secrets of the rum runners, dealers in liquid gold and fire, products of Scotch distilleries and Cuban cane fields. For the center of the supply and the great distribution point for much of the liquor which is reaching the United States is among the cays of the Grand Bahama Banks.

Fifty Miles From Florida
Gun Cay is the rum runners' rendezvous. Port Royal, the old pirate capital, in the palmated days never pined a more profitable trade in Spanish treasure snatched from sudden galleons. This liquor distributing center is a coral island little more than a mile long and 100 yards wide.

Less than fifty miles off the Florida coast, its low lying rocks would be undistinguishable to the landman from any distance were it not for a squat red lighthouse which marks the channel in the reef. Approaching it from the Florida side, it seems deserted, for its one house faces the broad Atlantic to the eastward. Soon, however, the tips of slender topmasts show above the green palms and an derbrush, and as the quivering vessel swings past the narrow barrier in the reef with the surf breaking close to port and starboard, the rum runners' fleet is revealed at anchor.

Case Goods Galore
Seldom are there less than ten or a dozen craft swinging lazily with the tide. Schooners, sloops, yawls and motor craft there are, and sometimes a dinky steam tramp with smoke curling slowly from her funnel shows tax shipments direct from the banks of Thames and Clyde are not lacking. The decks of many are piled high with cases bearing names of New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities.

In the United States than of yore. The square bottles of Gordon, the well remembered signature of Peter Dawson, the pinch bottles and five stars of Haig and Haig, show that the British still find a market across the Atlantic.

On some vessels a carelessly hung scrap of dingy canvas veils the name and port on bow and counter, but others flaunt both with apparent impunity. For they are powerful freight carriers, ostensibly about their lawful business. There is small doubt, however, that no craft approaches unseen and the crews, belling about the decks in apparent unconcern, as the visiting craft winds among the trees are sold under to move far from a rifle hidden from view behind a gnarled tree.

Like Pirate Crews
And the crews, Captain Kidd or Blackbeard or old Captain Wreck never had crews who better looked their parts.

Crews from the isles, negroes from San Domingo, mixed bloods and hard-boiled white men from every part of the Caribbean, they tell about the dark, bearded and unkempt. They wear the same white cotton trousers rolled to the knees, the same broad hats and bandannas and the same feroic white as their brethren of the freebooting days. Only the gold earrings and the collars and pistols in their belts are lacking. These have been replaced, it is said, by those who have dealt with them, have been replaced by good gold coin and more modern weapons.

Activity at Night
In Gun Cay is peaceful and lazy during the day, but at night it is a different story. With dusk silent craft with motorized covered and exhausts muffled slide in the direction of the reef batteries. It is equally a breach of etiquette and equally dangerous to inquire too closely into the identity and destination of these ships without lights as it was to make searching inquiries of strangers in Leadville in the '90s.

Return With Gold
They come and they go, none knows whence or whither. But they bring good gold with them and take good Scotch away. Sooner or later their cargoes are sold by stealth in ports from Baltimore to Galveston, Florida alone has 1200 miles of coast line with hidden harbors galore. And there are less than a score of prohibition enforcement officers to watch this coast.

If Gun Cay is the wholesale center of the business of the Bahama Banks, Bimini is the social capital. It also is a beautiful tropical island less than forty-five miles from Miami Beach. Game fish surround it, but all the sharks are not in the waters. It is readily reached either by water or air, for flying boats make it rather their landing place than.

Many Visit Bimini
While visitors arrive, they must await the arrival of Mr. Commissioner Chalmers, official representative of the British crown, who greets them with one stock question and job. "Have you any whiskey which you wish to declare?"

The principal attraction to most visitors is the hotel where it is possible to enjoy that rare almost forgotten sport of putting your foot on the reef. It has become a rich man's sport, however, for the gentlemanly with the white apron and the crumpled hair and the bar tender's extracts to cents for each drop of spirituous volume or pack liquor.

Roulette Ball Roll
Adjuncting the football is the Palace of Chance where the drop and click of the ivory ball among the torments of the roulette wheel sound a warning so unmistakable as the whir of a rat snake. Few heed the warning, however, until blown away for small stakes is discouraged. The rolling ball, the fruit, it is a high ceiling and a large gray, stout man, well known in New York sporting circles, stands on a platform about ready to hit the ceiling if any patron demands a fix and some few devotees, but the fare table is often deserted. Too technical a game for the uninitiated, the crows decline to "open up" for less than $100. That is to say $100 is the smallest amount of checks sold.

It is said that before prohibition the island of Bimini owed the British government about $450,000. Now it is claimed the little community has a balance of some $1,600,000 on the right side of the imperial ledger. There is money in the Bahama Banks.

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The big navy idea has been given a distinct push forward by the senate naval affairs committee's rejection of the Borah resolution calling for a six months' holiday.

That action was more than a committee action. It was an accurate reflection on the majority sentiment in both the legislative and the executive branches of the government.

In spite of the great expenditure involved, the idea that United States shall have a navy relatively as powerful as any in the world seems destined to become the permanent policy of the government.

Size of Navies
Based on tonnage figures the British navy today is almost exactly twice that of the United States navy and the United States navy is a little more than twice the Japanese.

The authorized building program for the United States for the next four years will more than double America's naval power. It provides for 842,109 tons in a total of 190 ships and will give us in 1925 a total tonnage of 1,617,282 as compared with a prospective British total of 1,665,332. This is accepting the unofficial British statement that they are not going to compete with us, but will stick to their building program, which calls for but 76,890 tons in the next four years.

Voluntary Limitation
Practically speaking, Great Britain's naval policy at this time is one of voluntary limitation, irrespective of the policy of the United States, her only competitor for control of the seas.

Our determination to equal Britain's sea power by more than doubling our tonnage in the next four years, while the British are standing still, offers Japan the choice between building to her utmost limit or of being rated as a second class naval power.

Japan's authorized building program calls for 323,469 in new tonnage by 1925. This will give her a total of 385,655 tons. To this must be added 363,270 tons projected for completion by 1927, but not yet authorized, making a grand total of 1,957,926 tons.

These are the figures that must be taken into account discussing limitation of naval armaments.

HAMILTON, O., Feb. 14.—Andrew Douglas Hepburn, formerly president of Davidson college, North Carolina and Miami University, died at Oxford, O. today. He was 91 years old, and widely known as an authority on English literature.

TOUR Feb. 14.—A British airplane captured and burned a British airplane kidnapping the civilian, it was captured today, which official reports were released at Baltimore and Kilauea. The military found an airplane near the Hawaiian Islands.

PALM BEACH, Feb. 14.—Ignorance and trouble was threatened here today following the shooting and killing of H. J. Small, a negro operator of a chair along the beach, by James H. Burnard, watchman at the Poinciana hotel, yesterday following an argument. Burnard is in jail. Repression tactics of two negro fraternal organizations urged the negroes to await action of the courts. The coroner's jury is expected to investigate the killing today.

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The impeachment of Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis for "high crimes and misdemeanors in office" was asked of the house today by Congressman Welty, Democrat of Ohio, who entered a formal procedure to secure an impeachment trial. The charge is based solely on Landis' connection with baseball and the receipt of a salary from baseball organizations. It was referred to the house committee judiciary.

Also Mixed in Bank Case
(The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Representative Welty, of Ohio, entered today to grant the request of Senator Dial of South Carolina, that he include in his proposed impeachment proceedings against Federal Judge Landis the statement attributed to Landis, that officials of an Illinois bank are responsible for embezzlement by a clerk of the bank because they paid the clerk only $90 a month. Welty said he would confine himself to the question of Landis serving as supreme arbiter of baseball while holding federal office.

Dial announced besides seeking to have impeachment brought, against the judge, he would prefer charges against him with the department of justice in connection with the bank case.

ENGLISH FACTORY
DISTRICTS TODAY

(International News Service.)
LONDON, Feb. 14.—An organized attack of incendiaries attributed by Scotland Yard to Sinn Feiners, has swept the English industrial belt, the past 48 hours, four factories in Manchester, three in Oldham and one in Stockport, being set afire.

Other attempts to burn industrial plants are reported at Rochdale and Royden. On account of vigilance of the police and firemen, the damage is small.

RIGHT OF ROADS TO ARBITRATE A WAGE
REDUCTION DENIED

(United Press.)
CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—The right of railroads to arbitrarily reduce wages of employees was denied by the federal railroad labor board in a decision today. The board's decision was contained in a ruling on the petition of the Federated Railroad Employees to prevent the management from putting into effect a salary reduction and a change in hours of work. No change shall be made in the existing scale and working conditions before the board has opportunity to hear the case, the board ruled.

IT'S A KING'S FAULT!
(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Years ago when all wore short trousers, why do they wear long ones these days? A New York tailor traces it back to the knickerbocker days. Along came a king whose legs were splendidly and properly and put on a long pair of pants to hide them from public gaze. Hence the existing style.

The argument, which is the precise one for December, signifies "prejudice in fact."

Complaints on Transportation
Complaint having been filed against H. L. Berry, transportation contractor between DeLeon and DeLand, at the last meeting of the board, as per request of the board, he was present and made a statement in reference to the same. Mr. Berry submitted a letter from Principal E. F. Ezell, stating that Mr. Berry's bus has been late in arriving at the school about three times during the year, and that otherwise so far as he has been able to learn the services being rendered by Mr. Berry as satisfactory as the services of contractors on that route in past years have been. It was stated by Mr. Berry that boys transported on his bus, upon reaching DeLand, several minutes before school convention time, leave the school grounds and go up town, getting back to school tardy, and it is his belief that when the information reaches the parent these boys tell the parents that the bus was late. It was recommended that the city school forbid transportation to pupils leaving the grounds to go to town, without written requests from parents.

Information in hand indicating that the DeLand first grade is crowded to capacity and that the present number enrolled is even more than the teachers can do justice by. Instructions were given Principal R. F. Ezell, to refuse admission to new pupils for this grade, unless they are able to take up the work of the grade at the time of application and keep up the work without extra help from the teachers.

OBREGON'S FORUM

MEXICAN PRESIDENT SUBMITS TO NEWSPAPERS' QUESTIONS

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14.—Open forum meetings every 15 days with newspaper correspondents, both Mexican and foreign, is a new and established policy of President Obregon.

His plans for legislation to be dealt with by the special session of congress were outlined by the president at his first meeting with the newspaper men. He gave fully as much promise for a peaceful and prosperous future for Mexico by his manner as he did by his words.

Only once during the hour and 40 minutes that the conference lasted, did President Obregon refuse to give a prompt, clear answer.

That was when he was asked for his opinion as to the best kind of an international court.

His Limitations
"My vision in Mexican politics is none too broad," he said. "My vision as to world politics is less broad. Therefore I beg to be excused from expressing an opinion."

When the questioning had proceeded for 20 minutes Obregon suggested that each man take his turn and ask as many questions as he desired.

Obregon was asked if his government was taking steps to negotiate a treaty with the United States along lines suggested by Bainbridge Colby and Roberto Posqueri.

"Under my administration no treaty will be needed to force Mexico to discharge her international obligations," was his reply.

"Mexico should begin her new course of action free to accord to all foreigners and nationals a clear recognition of the rights of others. That is a duty Mexico owes herself as much as to others and one Mexico will perform without treaty."

Champagne Served
A staff officer appeared at the president's summons.

"These gentlemen do not appear to be prohibitionists," the president said. Everyone laughed with the president as the staff officer retired.

He returned with waiters and all joined in drinking champagne to the president's health.

IT is not often that a merchant can seize an opportunity such as this. Such opportunities are rare. After the Armistice, the rate of exchange prohibited the exportation of certain fine types of leaf tobacco. We purchased this tobacco and are using it in the manufacture of "111" (ONE-ELEVEN) CIGARETTES, producing a new product—a quality product—and one that is giving exceptional satisfaction, for these types of tobacco have never previously been used in the manufacture of cigarettes selling in this country.

Lady Nicotine Follows J. Barleycorn to Grave

(International News Service.)

COWLEY, Wyo., Feb. 14.—Lady Nicotine has been laid to rest here alongside of John Barleycorn, and the two "kings"—Alcohol and Tobacco—are peacefully reposing in a local cemetery.

Impressive funeral services were held recently for King Tobacco. Headed by a brass band that played mournful dirges, the funeral procession, including a hearse that contained the "corpse" of Old King Tobacco and scores of mourners who marched behind the hearse, wended its weary way through the business section to the little hillside graveyard, where the "departed" friend of most of the male population was buried with pomp and ceremony.

The obsequies followed a week's campaign during which religious workers secured the pledge of all local merchants that they would cease selling tobacco.

Cowley is in the "Big Horn" country of northwestern Wyoming, close to the Montana border line, and has a population of about 700.

GERMAN BEET SUGAR

COUNTRY MAKING TERRIFIC
COMEBACK IN INDUSTRY

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—Germany is making a terrific comeback in the beet sugar industry.

An increase of 50 per cent in the output of its sugar industry was accomplished in the 1920-21 campaign as compared with the previous run in 263 German beet sugar mills.

Their production for the two campaigns was 1,076,000 metric tons and 717,875 metric tons, respectively. Plans are already being formulated for a largely increased beet average this spring.

Germany's comeback in the beet campaign would have been even more impressive had the government not diverted 10 per cent of the harvest to distilling, drying, syrup making and cattle feeding.

Her production of 1,076,000 tons in the 1920-21 campaign compares weakly with Germany's 1912-13 output of 2,093,154 metric tons, but at the present rate of recovery it will not take this country as long as her competitors predicted to regain her preeminence in the world production and exportation of beet sugar.

Dr. Chas. Upson Clark Gives Interesting Discourse on the Italian Conditions at Forum

President Robert S. Holmes of the Open Forum is to be congratulated upon the fact that in the selection of speaker-guests he chooses those particularly fitted for their respective jobs. Dr. Charles Upson Clark, formerly an instructor in Yale college and later a member of the faculty of the University of Rome, who spoke Sunday afternoon on "The Last Word from Italy," soon convinced his large and sympathetic audience that he was a thorough master of his subject. It was constantly evident that he was about as well acquainted with the governmental situation in southeast-ern Europe as he is at home, who says he was born in Massachusetts and adopted by Connecticut.

Director James Heaton led the community singing with his usual grace and good fellowship, pleasing everyone, and then introduced Dr. Karl Schild, a distinguished educator of Switzerland, who with Mrs. Schild are thoroughly trained musicians. He was for 14 years the managing director of the telegraphic systems of Switzerland, which is controlled by his government. Since his resignation he has been doctor of philosophy, physics and electrotechnic in the technical university in Zurich. He is also one of the owners of one of the largest Swiss watch factories in the world, employing about 3,000 people. They are located at Grenchen, Solothurn. For several weeks Mr. and Mrs. Schild have been very agreeable guests at the Daytona Beach hotel, where they have made many friends. The Auditorium management in some way learned that Dr. Schild paid a good deal of attention to music as a pastime, and was especially brilliant as a pianist; he was asked to play a few selections as the musical feature for the Sunday afternoon Forum. His numbers, which were classical and among the favorites of the masters, were enthusiastically received by the audience, and he was accorded three hearty encores. Mrs. Schild assisted him with his music at the piano.

Upon being introduced by President Holmes, Dr. Clark proceeded at once to make the audience to understand that the people of this country do not come any nearer understanding and appreciating Italy—her rights, her feelings and ambitions than the people over there do the conditions over here. He told an interesting incident of seeing in Italy a committee of United States congressmen which was not in the least complimentary to the American statesman. He said they appeared at a dinner party at which the Italian king was also a guest, shabbily dressed and ill behaved as a result of too much strong drink. The questions they asked regarding Italian affairs made them ridiculous and evidenced their ignorance as to European problems.

At the close of the lecture several questions were asked Dr. Clark by interested persons in the audience which he readily answered, clarifying many matters not thoroughly understood here. Among other things he made it plain that England had borrowed money during the great war from the United States at 5 per cent and turned around and loaned it to Italy at the time of her great need at 6 per cent. Also, the fact that Italy buys her coal and other necessities from England or Germany after they have bought it from this country, thus paying a double profit. He regarded this as a direct reflection upon business sense of American producers.

In substance Dr. Clark said: "At the outbreak of the war Italy was suffering from the effects of her war with Turkey; her troops were still engaged in Tripoli, and she was without supplies or heavy artillery, having just changed from Krupp to the French Creusot works; and the French at once commandeered all guns under contract for Italy. Italy was bound to Germany and Austria by the Triple Alliance; but this was defensive, and Italy had already twice notified Austria, in 1912 and 1913, that she did not consider herself bound to join in Austria's proposed attack on Serbia. However, Italy was under no obligation to declare herself; nevertheless she declared neutrality, within 48 hours removed troops from the French frontier, and thus the French were enabled to take their divisions guarding that frontier up to the Marne, where their presence was vital in winning the battle. There was a considerable sentiment, voiced by Giolitti, who was then and is now premier, for continued neutrality; he wrote to a friend saying he thought Italy should wait till the greatest of all the neutrals (we) should declare herself and then come in with her. But public sentiment, always strongly anti-Austrian and inflamed especially by D'Annunzio's famous speech at the Garibaldi celebration at Quarto, near Genoa, forced a declaration of war for the Allies, and Giolitti had to retire. Italy's help in the war was decisive; without her service in holding so many Austrian divisions on that line the combined German-Austrian would have defeated the French and British long before we came in. The Italians feel bitterly that this was not appreciated at the peace conference, and many think that after the great battle of Vittorio Veneto, in October, 1918, the Italians should have kept on and held Munich and Vienna till the signing of the treaty, whereas they trusted to their allies and the treaty of London of May, 1915, under the terms of which they had entered the war, and were woefully disappointed. They cannot understand why our historical experts were so anti-Italian, and blame Mr. Wilson and them largely for the failure to have Fiume assigned to Italy. D'Annunzio stepped in and created a situation which can be appreciated if we imagine Matamoros, across from Brownsville, to be an American city, desirous of annexation to Texas, after a victorious war against Mexico, but denied us by the peace conference; then imagine Roosevelt and Rough Riders taking and holding the city, and United States regulars finally having to bombard it and drive them out. Italy has weathered this strain, and the workmen have discovered they could not run the mills they seized and are now satisfied with having representatives on a board, to be consulted in all questions regarding wages, working conditions, etc. The Treaty of Rapallo recently signed by Italy and Jugoslavia gives the latter country much more than many Italians consider right, but is a genuine effort on the part of Giolitti to bring the two countries closer together, and relieve Jugoslavia from the embarrassment of Adriatic problems at a time when the Hungarians are trying to detach Croatia from Jugoslavia and revive the Hapsburg kingdom of Hungary out of Croatia, German Austria, Hungary, German Czechoslovakia and perhaps Transylvania and the Banat."

Prominent Road Builder of Mass. Visits the Beach

Pleasantly located at the Seaside Inn are Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Plumb of Westfield, Mass., who have spent several winters in Florida and have visited several of the state's resorts. They say they are delighted with the Beach and have never found a winter climate more to their liking.

Mr. Plumb has, for many years, been in the business of furnishing crushed stone for the building of improved roads in Massachusetts and is thoroughly versed in the road building game. "You have beautiful roads here at the Beach," said Mr. Plumb, "but, of course, I don't know how substantially they are constructed or how hard usage they have. We have to have roads that will stand up under seven hundred tons of stone daily carried in over a hundred trucks, and we are getting to build the Johnson road in our state almost exclusively. After trying out many kinds of construction our people have found this the most lasting and satisfactory."

When asked how they are made Mr. Plumb said: "We put in a bottom of what we call trap rock; it is a dark gray and very hard. While the size of the pieces are not uniform they average about nine inches square in size. This gives us a bottom of heavy rock nine inches thick to start with. Over this we put two inches of ordinary crushed stone, which is rolled hard. Then a coating of finer grades; then we pour on plenty of oil and then enough sand to absorb the oil well. No matter what weight we put on these roads there is no chance for a weave or a ripple. This is known with us as a Telford bottom and it takes an awful load to make the slightest impression, and so far we have not seen one of these roads worn out. These trap rocks are almost as hard as iron and very hard to break."

"So far," said Mr. Plumb, "we have not been helped much by the federal aid. We are just now putting down six miles of roads in the neighborhood in which I live and our town's share will be $50,000—the balance of the cost is divided between our state and county."

Mr. Plumb says his state already has thousands of miles of improved roads and it is possible to go hundreds of miles in every direction from Boston and not get off from them. "It is the intention to improve every road in our state just as soon as we can."

Bishop R. J. Cooke Will Return Here from California

Bishop Richard J. Cooke of the Methodist church, who with Mrs. Cook has been a guest of the Dixie hotel, having come here to recuperate his health, left for Los Angeles, Cal., Saturday. He goes to California to deliver a series of lectures before the university of that state. Since his arrival here Bishop Cooke has noticed a marked improvement in his health and he leaves feeling much better and stronger than when he came. He goes to fill an engagement made before his health was impaired. While here he preached twice, once at the Community M. E. church, and once in his auditorium, where his eloquence and ability were fully appreciated. He made many friends here, as he is a man among men, ready to greet his fellows with good cheer. He expects to return here within a few weeks for a further stay at the wonderful beach. Mrs. Cooke will remain here during the bishop's absence with Captain and Mrs. W. D. Henderson of Chickasha, Okla. Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Cooke are sisters.

Dr. G. W. Snyder of Baraboo, Wis., is one of the latest winter guests to arrive. He is pleasantly domiciled with W. H. City at 124 Halifax avenue.

Confection Supply Manufacturer Is Enjoying Beach

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McClellan and Miss Etta Austin of Melrose, Mass., are among the very agreeable arrivals at the Daytona Beach hotel. They express themselves as being much delighted with the wonderful beach and delightful climate.

Mr. McClellan is in the wholesale confection supply business in Boston, which is the center of this sort of trade in the country. "The past year," said Mr. McClellan, "has been a very unsatisfactory one in our line. You know a business depression always affects a luxury line first. We furnish the manufacturers of confectionery with their materials and when their business is dull ours must be. Everything is looking much better and in a few months I look for practically normal conditions along all lines. Our business men are looking forward with confidence to the new administration and believe there are four prosperous years in sight. We are glad to say good-bye to the Wilson regime, as we think its policies have been disastrous to our interests. In Calvin Coolidge, Massachusetts has presented the nation with one of the cleanest, ablest and best patriots the world has ever known. We, of course, would like to have seen him named for president, but we have every confidence in President-elect Harding and believe the business of the country will be safely guarded by his public acts and policies."

Mr. McClellan and party came here direct from St. Petersburg. They have spent a number of years in Florida, and with no place are they better satisfied than the Beach. From here they will take some automobile trips and will aim to find all the enjoyment possible in their tour of the state.

As a prelude to his sermon at the Calvary Baptist church last evening, Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, the distinguished pastor, in speaking on "Limitations of Armaments," said:

"This is one of the urgent duties of the hour. Every one is weary of war. There ought to be a better use for men than to employ them in killing their fellowmen. But unfortunately there are still many proofs of rampant militarism. These evidences of militarism make it unsafe for lovers of peace to abandon all precautions for self-protection. But why should the nations longer carry the exhausting and even unendurable burden of taxation in order to secure national supremacy? Great Britain, the United States, and especially Japan are loading themselves with enormous burdens of taxation in order greatly to increase their military strength."

"Disarmament seems, at present, to be impossible. All nations affirm its desirability, but no nation is ready to take the initiative if all would agree to disarm at once, the result would easily be secured. But all could more readily agree on a limitation of armaments. This proposal has already been received with favor in the senate of the United States. The President's veto of the bill to reduce the army has been overruled by a very large vote. Japan would be glad of an international movement in this direction. Japan is now groaning under the burden of increased taxation for additional armaments. France is not so ready to favor limitation, but she also, it is believed would come into line. But if the United States and Great Britain should decide on a practical plan for the reduction of army and navy, all other nations would assuredly agree. Great Britain and the United States, working in harmony, can control the world for law and order, for civilization and Christianity. These two great English-speaking and most advanced nations, standing loyally together, can rule the world for all the best interests of humanity."

"France still is fearful of the German menace; she is not yet ready to trust to judicial procedure rather than to the sword for self-protection. Senator Borah puts the case strongly for limitation of armaments. He reminds us that though two years have passed since the close of the great war, the most stupendous programs for armaments ever known have been initiated by at least four of the great allied powers. France has an army of nearly one million men. Japan has been increasing her military and naval power. The United States has let contracts for 16 battleships, which will cost under present conditions forty million dollars each."

"General Pershing at the European Relief Council Dinner in New York, made statements which clearly showed that we must favor disarmament or return to primitive barbarism. There is no other alternative. Huge armaments are sure to result in great wars. What would another war mean? If there is another war between first class powers, it must be more scientific than the war just ended; it would leave the people of America, Europe and Asia more impoverished than they now are. Civilization cannot long endure other great wars. It is partial disintegration is even now seen in portions of Europe. This Mr. Lloyd-George clearly sees. He is greatly wise in cutting the British naval and military appropriations in half. He sees the needs of civilization far more clearly than does Jesse White. He sees that civilization cannot long endure the strain of fighting terrible wars. Always wars create hatred, disease, death and immorality; these are the irreparable consequences of war. The best way will be to win by peace. General Pershing is assuredly right; we must disarm or we must perish in barbarism. Let Britain lead in disarmament; let Japan follow Britain's lead, and let the United States follow both. Not to follow would be a high crime against ourselves, against civilization, and against humanity. Our government ought to play a leading role in the present movement for a decided limitation of armaments."

"The new administration ought promptly to adopt some agreement for the limitation of armaments. It is believed that Senator Root, Julius Charles E. Hughes and President-elect Harding are heartily in favor of limitation of armaments, propounded on the condition of the different nations. God hasten the day when this result can be assured. For this League of Nations let us all labor and pray."

Business Be Mixed With Pleasure at Banquet Tonight

Pleasure will be mixed with business, at the first annual banquet and convention of the Volusia County Young Men's Christian Association, which will be held this evening at Masonic Hall, the banquet to commence at 6 o'clock to be followed by several addresses and short talks, at which time also will be held the election of officers for the ensuing year.

The musical features of the program, too, will add much to the interest in the evening's affair, as Prof. James Heaton has charge of that feature, and will sing several solos, as well as direct the other musical features, which will include the Daytona high school orchestra. Mr. Heaton, in addition, will be toastmaster.

The banquet, at which a most tempting menu will be served, has been prepared by the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. A book exhibit, showing the latest publications on boys' work will be an important feature.

The principal address of the evening will be delivered by Richard H. Edmonds, and A. E. Roberts, the latter an international secretary on county work, who will bring much of value to the local organization. Several hundred are expected at the banquet this evening.

FRENCH TEACHER HERE TO GATHER ECONOMIC FACTS

Daytona entertained today, for a short period, a distinguished guest, in the person of Miss L. Devaige, of Paris, teacher of home economics in the Crignon Normal School of Paris, who is making a tour of the United States in the interests of home economic work, that she may inaugurate a system in the schools of Paris similar to the ones in the United States.

Miss Devaige visited Daytona today with Miss Sarah Partridge, state home demonstration agent, who has accompanied the French teacher to all parts of the state the past few weeks, gathering information on home economics to be taught in the French schools, upon the return of Miss Devaige to Paris in April.

The French teacher arrived in New York in January, and will go from Florida to New Orleans, Arizona, California, making the trip back to New York by way of Colorado, Salt Lake City and Chicago.

As a representative of the agricultural department of the French government, the French teacher is greatly interested in agricultural improvements in Florida, expressing great pleasure in her findings here.

As her allotted time to each state is short, Miss Devaige had to cut her visit to Daytona short, but stated that when her trip was arranged, she asked that no time be eliminated from her Florida trip, as she has been most interested in her findings here, and in her visit to all parts of the state.

That the Florida system of home economics and canning clubs will be copied by the French government is one of the highest compliments that can be paid to the work here, which is in its highest state.

Noted Southern Divine to Speak at Palmetto Club

One of the most enjoyable programs of the season has been prepared by the Palmetto club for this week's meeting which will be devoted to southern subjects and traditions, with one of the greatest southern speakers in an address.

"Our Lost Ancestors," by Mrs. Johnston Quinn will be read by Mrs. Graham Thompson, to be followed by "Southern Poems and Sketches," by Mrs. F. J. Niver.

The address of the day will be delivered by Dr. Geo. R. Stuart, D. D., of Birmingham, who will speak on "The South and Its Traditions." Southern melodies will be included in the musical features of the day. Mrs. Rolland Stevens and Mrs. A. Milligan being ushers.

For the past five years Dr. Stuart has been pastor of the First Church at Birmingham, and is a director of the Southern Assembly of North Carolina as well as a widely known evangelist and lecturer on southern subjects.

Dr. Stuart graduated from Emory and Henry College, at Emory, Va., in 1882, from which college he received his Doctor of Divinity degree in 1884. He was pastor of a number of southern churches, and from 1885 to 1890 taught English and natural science at Centenary College in Cleveland, Tenn. From 1892 to 1907 he was evangelist for the M. E. church, South, and as layman lecturer from 1912 to 1916 when he accepted the pastorate which he now holds in Birmingham.

He was for many years closely associated with the great Sam Jones, and is the compiler of "Sam Jones' Famous Sayings," which was published in 1908, and has also written a number of song books.

On Thursday evening, Dr. Stuart will speak at the Deland school auditorium in behalf of the Volusia County Y. M. C. A. on the subject, "Is God Divine or Devilish?"

New Bridge Wanted By Commissioners Over Smith Creek

That the present wooden structure over Smith Creek, north of Ormond Beach, is unfit for travel, and should be replaced with a structure of sufficient strength to carry heavy traffic was stated by County Commissioner C. L. Vining before the meeting of the county commissioners held at Deland Saturday. Several days ago the draw of the Smith Creek bridge broke making travel over the peninsula road impossible until repairs are completed. The county commissioner from this district reported that he is rushing repairs on the draw and hopes to have the road open within two or three days, but stated that any repairs made are but temporary.

As there is no fund at present on hand with which to build a new bridge, it was thought possible that the county commissioners might apply to the coming legislature for permission to borrow funds sufficient to build a new bridge over Smith Creek.

Commissioner Vining was instructed to have plans and specifications drawn for both a wooden and steel structure, and plans were left in abeyance until some means of raising the money for the bridge were settled on.

At a meeting of the board earlier in the week, Isaac A. Stewart of Deland was elected chairman of the board, to fill the position left vacant by the sudden death recently, of County Commissioner C. E. M. Carpenter, who had been elected chairman of the board at the New Year.

BULLET MEETS BULLET IN BARREL OF GUN

(International News Service.)

BOSTWICK, Ga., Feb. 14—A rather serious shooting affray occurred at the Morgan county convict camp near here when two guards, Moore and Bramlett, engaged in a discussion over some trivial matter. The argument became so heated both men drew guns and began firing at each other from a distance of about eight or ten feet.

Moore received two wounds in the head and Bramlett two in the right arm. That both were not instantly killed is perhaps due to a very unusual occurrence, the like of which was never before heard of here, and is without counterpart, so far as known.

One of the bullet wounds was using a .45 calibre gun carrying a steel jacket bullet, and the other a .38 calibre carrying a lead bullet. Both were five shots and had each been fired four times. When the fifth shot was fired the bullet from the .38 calibre struck the .45 and came in contact with the bullet of the .45 that had penetrated about three inches in the barrel of its way out.

When the bullet met they lodged and had to be removed with a punch. It is thought that both men will recover.
